

Welcome to the Maxisoft™ Empire!!

Maxisoft®™© Excess©™® 2003 is the latest new piece of software from Maxisoft®™©, an amazing upgrade from v2002.8, which was released many days ago.

It outstrips the previous version by hugely increased user-friendliness, a wholly derecapacitorified programming subroutine, compatible with all the newest and most expensive processors, and a complete incompatibility with all versions before it.

Excess©®™®™ is the only piece of software you will ever need, the first ever one-stop solution to all your computing problems, the only program which, once installed, will entirely take care of any gripe or worry you may have ever had or will ever have.

Maxisoft™®©®™ would like to congratulate you on choosing the latest generation of their award-winning software!

Troubleshooting

Excess™®™©® has a foolproof system to identify problems built into the Excess Assistants, largely because most of the problems are built into the Excess Assistants. Should you encounter a problem which you can't solve by simple poking about, it will shortly be possible to download patches, which will be so huge as to take a few evenings on a 56k modem, and solve all the problems which we should have spotted in testing.

Meet the Excess Assistants!!!

Here at Maxisoft, we're dedicated to making your use of our software even simpler than you are. Maxisoft Excess is the only software on the market to provide you with "Excess Assistants" - cheery, identical, and ever-handy animated creatures, designed to tell you exactly what you already know! Why not get to know them better?

Stapley the Staple

Ever felt your work is falling apart? Well never fear; Stapley will hold things together! Simply click on him to discover a speech bubble re-directing you to the ever-uninformative Help Menu & your problem's solved!

Socky the Sock

Do you need something the hammer home the point of your document? If you do, Socky is the Assistant for you! Simply click 'animate' and see him hilariously extract a floppy disk from within himself, and crash your computer! That'll really "sock it to 'em"!!

Iguanaey the Iguana

This Assistant is a favourite with children and imbeciles alike. Should you have any problem using Maxisoft Excess, simply click Iguanaey, and he'll provide you with a speech bubble telling you your problem in a slightly more complex and utterly unclear manner!

“What can you do with Maxisoft Excess?!”

This is the exact question we asked one software user, Mr. R. Treveleyan - Adams. We're not going to tell you what he said, as your computer might get damaged. What we will tell you is what you can't do with Maxisoft Excess - and, compared to previous products, that's a small list! So, here it is!!!

- * You cannot save files in a manner compatible with any previous version of this software. This is Maxisoft Company policy, and will apply in perpetuity.
- * You cannot turn off the Handy Maxisoft Grammar-checking-Facility-Programme. This is because we do not trust you to use the correct words in the appropriate context, and would much rather you relied upon our wavy blue underlinings to tell you that you should consider a totally stupid word, so as to avoid the "Passive Voice", which no-one cares about.
- * You cannot connect to the Internet whilst using Maxisoft Software, unless you are using the Maxisoft OnLine Internet browser (MOL). This is a user-friendly dial-up service, which contains its own systems, windows and help systems. You will find one MOL CD in you box, and a further six hundred in your post every week. Simply place the CD in the drive, and wait for your computer to be assimilated.
- * You cannot transfer files to CDs, CD-RWs, or floppy disks, unless you use an official Maxisoft 6 7/8" disk.
- * You cannot use e-mail attachments.
- * You shall not covet your neighbour's PC.
- * You cannot use any file format that prevents the transfer of viruses.
- * You cannot use this software to produce illegal copies of it. Nor can you use an illegal copy. Well... we can't stop you, but please don't anyway. We have lawyers and things. Not that they could prove it... Uhm. Look, you've paid for this, I think it would be unfair to save other people money. You can though. Er. Oh please don't!
